Earthworm Observations

Worm Bin Quadrants

Talk to your partners and decide which fruits and vegetables that you think your worms will enjoy the most. Using masking tape, divide the lid of your worm bin into four quadrants. Label each quadrant with the name of one of your food choices. Write those choices below so that you will remember where you have buried those foods. Once the foods begin to be eaten by the worms, it may become unrecognizable, and you won't remember which food went where! This is very important for the observations you will be doing over the next few weeks.
